

October 25, 2011

Jericho Students Learn About Italian Culture

Every October, members of the Italian-American community celebrate Italian Heritage Month, and this year includes the remembrance of the 150th anniversary of the unification of Italy.

Members of Jericho's Italian Honor Society created a special commemorative banner, under the guidance of Samantha Pae, Sara Barsky, and Cynthia Kallif. The students also prepared numerous displays highlighting famous Italians and Italian Americans.

There will be an Italian themed bake sale on Nov. 4 featuring many delicious homemade goodies. Ninth grade students prepared research projects on outstanding Italian Americans.

"The students had fun together as they learned more about Italian culture and contributions to American society," said Jericho High School Italian Teacher Louise Bozzo.

Pictured here are Italian language students. Teacher Louise Bozzo said that the students had fun together learning about Italian culture.